District hires first 2018–2023 building plan architects

LEXINGTON, S.C. — At its Nov. 13, 2018 meeting, the Lexington County School District One Board of Trustees awarded an architectural services contract for five upcoming school building projects to Jumper Carter Sease Architects, located at 412 Meeting Street, West Columbia, SC 29169.

The architectural services contract allows the district to use existing elementary and middle school design plans or “prototypes” it previously used to build the five new schools listed in the district’s $365 million building plan approved by Lexington District One voters during the November 6, 2018 General Election.

The district used those prototypes for Deerfield Elementary, Meadow Glen Elementary, Rocky Creek Elementary and Beechwood Middle schools.

Although the five new schools will not mirror those schools, using the same prototypes can save the district as much as a year’s time, as well as money, on architectural fees and construction costs.
